

The Neighborhood Wag

we're so glad you're here!

HEY, HOW ARE YOU?

Welcome Letter

Hello everyone, and happy June! 🌞🌊

As you head outdoors, remember to keep safety top of mind. While the warm weather is wonderful, summer heat can pose serious risks for pets. Hot pavement can burn sensitive paws, and high temperatures can quickly lead to heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

Before every adventure, take a moment to THINK SAFETY!!!

We hope you and your pets enjoy a fun, safe, and adventure-filled summer!

Seasonal Tip

FIREWORK SAFETY + FEAR-REDUCTION MEDICATION

The 4th of July can be lots of fun for us, but it can be stressful for our pets.

Loud fireworks can be scary for many dogs and cats, party foods may be unsafe, and all the excitement can make it easier for a gate or door to accidentally get left open.

As you celebrate with family and friends, take a few extra steps to help your furry family members feel safe and comfortable too.

You may also want to think about FEAR-REDUCTION medications like Trazodone or Gabapentin. If you would be interested in trying some for your nervous pet, reach out to discuss your options.
